Nathan Pan, Mesa Community College Network Academy student, was recently selected from more than 100 applicants to be part of this year's Cisco Live Dream Team.

Applicants were required to submit a written and video application to participate within the event, which highlighted their technical and professional skills, instructor recommendations, activities outside the classroom and geographical diversity.

Throughout the past five years, Cisco Live Dream Team has provided participants with the opportunity to develop hands-on skills, while working alongside leaders in the industry.

This year's Cisco Live Dream Team is comprised of 10 academy students and two academy instructors.

Students, who were selected to work alongside Cisco engineers, set up the Networking Operating Center at the event, maintain the network and respond to support needs.

"Nathan is a very dedicated and self-motivated student who is pursuing his passion for computer networking," said Bob Samson, MCC Networking faculty member, in a statement. "He constantly challenges himself (and consequently his instructors) to better himself and his classmates. I am certain Nathan will be a great asset to the 2015 Cisco Live Dream Team."

According to the Cisco website, each year more than 160,000 students throughout the United States and Canada participate in Cisco Networking Academy courses.

Throughout the academy, students develop a variety of information technology skills that enhance their opportunity to seek employment.

"I am looking forward to working with the other nine students that were selected across North America as well as the best Cisco engineers in the world to help set up a network, support it, and then tear it down, all in 10 days," Pan said in a statement.

Pan, a Chandler resident, is set to graduate from Mesa Community College this spring, and transfer to Northern Arizona University to receive a bachelor's degree in information technology management.

"I am very honored to have been chosen to be part of the Cisco Live! 2015 Dream Team, and would like to thank my family, professors and friends for their continued support and encouragement."
