

Search our Site

Google™
Custom Search

Privacy Policy | Terms of Service

Home Nation/World Arizona/Local Fiction/Satire Sports Music/Arts Contact
About

History, Equality And More On Tap For Phoenix Metro

 SHARE

Like 0

Tweet

 0

Consciousness Calendar Sept. 7 to 21:
Terrorism, Racism, Animal Rights, Historical Remembrances — Those Looking To Learn More On These Issues And Many More Have A Plethora Of Options

MT IN DEPTH

By Staff Report

Modern Times Magazine

Sept. 7, 2016 — Building and developing the community we call the Phoenix metro area is the driving force behind the Consciousness Calendar and over the next two weeks,
there will be some literal building and development

The Consciousness Calendar is published bi-weekly and provides selected events for the proceeding two weeks. Send calendar

events as well as those a bit more figurative.

submissions for consideration to:

generalcontact@moderntimesmagazine.com

First, the literal. On Sept. 8, Kimber Lanning of Local First Arizona will lead a discussion on “Building Great Places.” And, on Sept. 20, Arizona State University’s Wrigley Lecture Series will feature Jason F. McLennan, an advocate of the green building movement.

Figurative community building and development include “Reframing Our Movement: Unifying Our Approach and Response to Sexual Assault, Domestic Violence, and Victims of Crime” on Sept. 14. This 2016 biennial conference will build on over 30 years of service to victims and survivors of crime.

And Sept. 20, “Miranda v. Arizona: 50 Years Later” will focus on the historic U.S. Supreme Court decision that established “the right to remain silent,” considered a bedrock of basic civil rights.

So, whether you want to be literal or figurative, find something great to build our community.

Thursday, Sept. 8

“Building Great Places” — a forum focusing on relationships among built environments, economies, urban planning and finance — will be held at noon in room 481 of the ASU Tempe campus. Kimber Lanning, founder and executive director of Local First Arizona, will lead the discussion. A lunch will be served. To register, go to <https://sustainability.asu.edu/events/rsvp/kimber-lanning-great-places/>

Friday, Sept. 9 and 10

Impact Arizona Series will present Dr. Eddie Moore Jr. — considered one of the most dynamic thinkers on race today — in a forum held at 6:30 p.m., Sept., in Mesa Community College, 1833 W. Southern Ave. “The Root: Understanding Racism, Privilege and Power” will focus on race and racism. To learn more, go to <https://www.facebook.com/events/848638075266516/> Moore will continue this topic during “Examining the Root: Racism, Privilege, Leadership and Action (Workshop)” from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Sept. 10 in the Kirk Student Center at Mesa Community College, 1833 W. Southern Ave. For more information contact csrd@asu.edu or call 602-496-1376. To register visit <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/impact-arizona-series-presents-dr-eddie-moore-jr-registration-27139233177>

Saturday, Sept. 10

A Phoenix Solidarity Gathering, in support of the Standing Rock Sioux Tribe, will be held starting at 11 a.m. at the Arizona State Capitol Building, Wesley Bolen Memorial Plaza, 1700 W. Washington St., Phoenix. The