

Both my father and my father-in-law grew roses. Greg's dad often sent me home with a bouquet of American beauties. When we moved into our house, the pool was surrounded by roses. They're all gone now. I couldn't keep up with the aphids.

ARHtistic License
35 likes

Like Page Share

Be the first of your friends to like this

Find the ARHtistic License post you're looking for:

Search

Are you looking for a particular TOPIC?

Select Category

Archives

- July 2016
June 2016
May 2016
April 2016
March 2016
February 2016
January 2016
December 2015
November 2015
October 2015
September 2015
August 2015
July 2015
June 2015
May 2015

Here's what I'm currently READING:

Assassination Vacation by Sarah Vowell

Zentangle Untangled: Inspiration and Prompts for Meditative Drawing by Kass Hall

The 4 Hour Workweek, Expanded And Updated: Expanded And Updated, With Over 100 New Pages Of Cutting Edge Content. by Timothy Ferriss

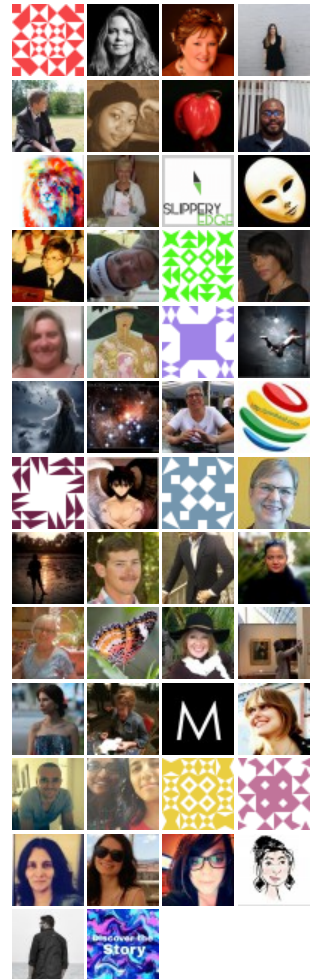

How to Write Funny
by John B. Kachuba

Outlining Your Novel Workbook: Step-by-Step Exercises for Planning Your Best Book
by K.M. Weiland

goodreads®

Some of the creative people who read ARHtistic License. Is your picture here? Follow the blog, like a post, or write a comment.

Look at these gorgeous two-color roses.

A sprinkler unexpectedly turned on and sent me running to dry ground. Luckily, I live in the desert and air-dried in a few minutes.

Participant

Blogroll

Discover New Voices

Get Inspired

Great Reads

Blogs I recommend:

Doing Life Together By my critique group, Tuesday's Children.

Goins, Writer Jeff Goins' helpful website for writers and others pursuing their purpose.

Helping Writers Become Authors By K.M. Weiland

My OBT One beautiful thing every day.

Parenting With a Smile The author blog of Linda McQuinn Carlblom.

Sketch Away Suhita Shirodkar subtitles her blog "Travels with my sketchbook."

Treadlemusic About quilting, especially free motion.

