A Pennsylvania university with a satellite campus in Mesa is the latest higher education institution to have a transfer agreement with the community college district that serves the Phoenix area.

Wilkes University's agreement with the Maricopa County Community College District smooths the transfer process for students to complete their bachelor's degree in business at Wilkes.

District spokesman Tom Gariepy says the district already has transfer agreements with dozens of other colleges and universities, including private and public institutions.

Wilkes' main campus is in Wilkes-Barre, Penn.
